GOOD NEIGHBORS

Rural Pastor, Church Group Aid Neighbors

NICHOLASVILLE, Ky.—The Rev. T. W. Spicer, pastor of the Mount Pleasant Baptist Church at Keene, has become widely known through Kentucky as the rural pastor who directs good-neighbor jobs for the betterment of the community and its residents.

As a result, Mr. Spicer recently was named rural minister of the year in Kentucky by the Progressive Farmer magazine.

Several years ago a farm neighbor of Mr. Spicer became ill during tobacco harvesting season. His father, who was bedridden, was to be housed right away. But the farmer's physician insisted that he remain in bed at least 10 days.

Then, Mr. Spicer went to work. He went about his parish telling the people about the plight of their neighbor.

Work Finished in Day

Under his leadership a large group of the church members went to the farm, pitched in and housed the entire crop in one day. Women did their bit by preparing a lunch for the workers.

Several months later, another neighbor of Mr. Spicer became bedridden. Members of Mr. Spicer's church did another "good-neighbor" job by being at 20 acres of the sick farmer's corn.

Twenty-nine men took part in the work. The church members went to the farm, pitched in and housed the entire crop in one day. Women did their bit by preparing a lunch for the workers.

Community Service

Mr. Spicer's citation from the farm magazine was presented for community service over a long period of time. Work that aided the community financially as well as spiritually.

It was awarded on four points: record as pastor, record in community activities, record of cooperation with agencies working toward permanent agriculture improvement, and a record in the field of financial achievement.

The minister had no experience in rural church work when he arrived in Keene. He had been in charge of a city church.

A cyclone struck and destroyed the church building in 1938. The building was rebuilt with the aid of volunteers under the direction of Mr. Spicer, an expert carpenter.

A new education building for the church was needed, so the minister pitched in to do that job. The building will be finished this fall. To date, the minister has done about 40 percent of the construction work.

Village Looks to Boom With Mixed Emotions

BRANDENBURG, Ky.—A little over a year ago the town of Brandenburg had approximately 300 people and was remembered as a picturesque community, a former river port, with its old house with iron-railed balconies. That's all changed now.

The Matheson Hydrocarbon Corporation's new $17,500,000 plant is about complete and will start operation within a few weeks. The town's population is about 1,500. It is expected to grow to 5,000 within a few years.

The community faces other problems, too. The municipally owned water company must expand, a sewer system will be needed, and more housing is an immediate necessity.

At the mayor reported, the town is growing and "we don't take the sidewalks in at 6 o'clock any more."

The company, which will employ 300 people on a permanent basis, manufactures antifreeze compound and other chemical products. Its raw material is a waste derived from a "stripping plant" at Gabe, Ky.

Another industry has announced it will build a $2,500,000 plant in Brandenburg soon.

J. M. Willis, editor of The Meade County Messenger, is one of the citizens who visualizes a big industrial future for Brandenburg. He expects the two plants to attract related industries.

For the first time in the history of the newspaper, he has started street-stand sales, and circulation has increased. He expects it will continue to grow.

Vandals Pose Problem For School Officials

STAMFORD, Conn.—At Stamford school children resumed classes recently, the board of education was pondering what to do about damage to school property during the summer. Vandals caused $1,242 damage, mostly in broken windows, more than in any previous recess.

Superintendent Reinald Neuwien said the repair cost would more than pay for a complete set of furniture for a school room.

Seventy-eight panes of glass were broken in one night at one school, and no one living near the school reported to police any knowledge of the destruction.

Members of the board of education plan to attend meetings of the Parent-Teachers Association to ask aid in solving the problem.

Why We Worship
Lesson for November 25, 1951

FEWER than ten out of every three Americans belong to any church or synagogue. Yet the traveler across America is never long out of sight of some house of worship. With or without a cross, with or without a steeple, with or without a bell, with or without a choir, with or without a minister, with or without a hymn book, with or without a prayer book, with or without a Bible, with or without a God.

It is amazing, the confusion of ways in which God is publicly worshipped. Some churches are filled with chanting, incense, long and not easy for a stranger to follow. Other churches are brief and simple. The services of these various kinds of churches are just as different as the leaders of the churches. The leader of the church is the one who is in charge of the service. He is the one who is in charge of the service. He is the one who is in charge of the service.

The liturgical churches, too, are different as the others. Some are filled with chanting, incense, long and not easy for a stranger to follow. Other churches are brief and simple. The services of these various kinds of churches are just as different as the leaders of the churches. The leader of the church is the one who is in charge of the service. JEST JESTIN

SCANTY SUIT
Joe: I'd like to see you in one of them low cut, skimpy evening gowns with a bare midriff. Maybe there'd even be a scene where you'd wear a bathin' suit.

Judy: Oh, uh. The studio asked me if I'd wear one of them new 1951 bathing suits and I really blew my top.

Joe: A new 1951 bathin' suit? What is it like?

Judy: A bottle of suntan oil and a zipper.

Repeat Performance
The hon. pooped husband was told that his wife had been killed by a pal of his at a party the night before. "She was shocked speechless," said the informant. "What are you going to do for her?"

The husband grinned and said, "I'm going to ask my pal to drop by the house and kiss her every night."

THE CLINCHER
A youngster was delighted to receive two live baby rabbits for an Easter present. He enjoyed them even more as they grew up, but they became a nuisance to his parents.

The mother and father began to consider various ways of disposing of the rabbits without breaking their little boy's heart. One day the father asked, "Phil, how about having one of your rabbits for dinner tonight?"

The child's face brightened, and he said, "Sure, Daddy, but how would he hold his spoon?"

They kept the rabbits.

Proper Plot
Governor — "Methusalem was nine hundred years old?"

Bob: "He was a hundred years old when he was born?"

MRS. BRYAN RECOVERING
Mrs. Fred Bryan returned on Monday from a Troy hospital where she underwent an operation. Her many friends will be glad to hear that she is recovering nicely at her home on Sunset Blvd.

AMPUTATION MAY BE NEEDED
Mrs. W. B. Perdue returned Monday from a visit in the home of her son Dr. G. H. Perdue in Ft. Valley, Ga. Dr. Perdue, who had recently returned from a Macon, Ga. hospital, seemed to be recovering from a blood clot in his leg. But, Wednesday Mrs. Perdue received word that the trouble had recurred and it is feared it will be necessary to amputate his leg.

Mayor L. P. Mullins, in going through some old papers in his office at the City Hall, recently found a Government Geodetic survey made in 1934 which revealed that the Elba public square is 191 feet above sea level. The major part of this elevation is said to be within the city limits of Elba, which gives the Elba River in this vicinity considerable potential in water power.

THANKSGIVING
Rhodes, Kintson HD Clubs Give Treat for Camp Rucker Soldiers

President Truman's Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 22, instead of the traditional Thursday in the month, passed off quietly and without any serious mishap in this area. According to local reports there was not a single grass over the Thanksgiving holiday. This is an unusual record.

Many persons feasted or went hunting or fishing. Some went to the Peanut Bowl game in Dothan where Abbeville and Sanborn grid teams met. Abbeville won easily.

Young hostsesses from Elba were June Kendrick, Patsy Pinkard, Mildred Boyer, Ethel Davis, and Martina Jean Padgett.

From Kinston were Mr. & Mrs. E. C. Novins Hasker and Annie. Mrs. N. W. Rhed's, Mr. & Mrs. J. C. Goodin, Mrs. Jessie Matthews, Mrs. Annie Alsworth, Mrs. M. J. Free, Mrs. L. A. Whitehead, Mrs. & Mrs. Dewey Hataway, Mrs. Jim Coon.

MRS. T. KENDRICK
NEW CITY CLERK

The Elba City Council has appointed Mrs. T. D. Kendrick as City Clerk to succeed her husband, who previously to his death served the town in that capacity. Mrs. Kendrick's appointment struck a popular chord around Elba.

WATER IN MELONS?
For many years O. C. Smith was recognized as the watermelon king of this section. His brother, J. D. Smith, says the reason watermelons contain so much water is because they are planted in the spring.
